All-round play system for a wide age group

The Kila play system can accommodate a wide age group. The smallest children right down to two years of age can join in at ground level, where the treasure chest and diamond panel stimulate play with sliding diamonds and the treasure chest key.

Play area for toddlers

Kila also has a play area for the youngest children. Its low intro height of 40 cm gives them easy access to the system. On the right, there is a large window for viewing and social interaction, while on the upper step, which is 90 cm high, there is the crow's nest. The moveable telescope on the crow's nest exercises children's fine motor skills and inspires role-playing – also over large distances. If you're brave, balancing your way across the jungle bridge provides access to the rest of the play system. Here you'll find the transparent dome window, which gives a completely new perspective on the world. Or you can take a thrilling ride down the slide and find out about gravity.
